Decorated for impressive innovation

Nanosurf has been selected as one of three nominees for the Swiss Technology Award 2012 in the category "Maturity Stage". This selection marks the third occasion on which Nanosurf has been considered for the esteemed innovation prize. Previous awards were won by Nanosurf in 2000 and 2007.

Nanosurf entered this year's contest with ARTIDIS®; a CTI-project by Nanosurf and the Biozentrum Basel in which an atomic force microscope-based device performs automated nano-mechanical tissue characterizations, e.g. to allow faster and more reliable cancer diagnostics.

The winners for 2012 will be announced during the Swiss Innovation Forum in Basel on November 8.
